

Università
della
Svizzera
Italiana

Switzerland, a neutral and (still) happy country?

International Relations and Study Abroad
Service

Monday
20 April 2026

17.30

Room A21
Red building
West Campus USI
Lugano

Event in English
open to the public

More information and registration

Talk with Maurizio Binaghi.

Why does Switzerland work? How did a small Alpine country, lacking natural resources and marked by deep linguistic and religious divisions, manage to become one of the most stable and prosperous states in the contemporary world?

If you are curious and want to know more about the “Swiss case”, don’t miss this event.

Maurizio Binaghi teaches at the Liceo Cantonale di Lugano 1. He serves as an expert in the teaching of history in compulsory schools in the Canton of Ticino, is president of the Ticino Association of History Teachers, and is an active member of the Swiss Historical Society and of the committee of Coscienza Svizzera.