What works? What helps?
Dealing with Sexism and Sexual Harassment at Universities

12:15-13:15 | Online

Despite many commitments to more diversity and inclusion, sexism and sexual harassment are still a reality at universities. The input shows how sexist discrimination is continuously reproduced in the university context and why incidents are still so often insufficiently discussed and ignored. It will also shed light on how sexism and sexual harassment can be dealt with more effectively from an intersectional perspective.
